TUTORS - Deborah Roberts and Laurie Stras

Enjoy a day exploring Palestrina's brilliant double-choir Missa Confitebor tibi orchestrated as it may have been, on special occasions, in the Florentine convent to which it was dedicated. Although only female voices, from high sopranos to low altos would be appropriate, we are opening the convent doors to both male and female instrumentalists to provide the bass parts as well as doubling some of the higher lines. Suitable instruments (all at 440) include sackbuts, cornets, plucked and bowed strings and very well behaved dulcians (!)

Deborah Roberts is director of the Brighton Early Music Festival and together with Professor Laurie Stras has a particular interest in music written by and for women.

All are very welcome to come and listen and also join us for the lecture and discussion at Lunch time.
